EXTRAORDINARY SURGICAL OPERATION -Week before last an invalid girl named Mar garet Shiels, aged 14, was sent up from Deer Island to the Massachusetts General Hospital at the suggestion of Dr. Moriarty, to submit her mysterious and painful case to the professional judgment of the eminent surgeons and physicins of that excellent institution. It appears from the statement she made, that about half the time during the last four years she has experienced very curious sens tions in her stomach—such as, at one time, a leaden, choking obstruction, at another a siekening feeling, which seemed to absorb the vigor of all her physical powers, prosort of inward life, a squirming, indefinable something,-ail of which were daily becoming more serious in their nature. She stated that tleath, about two years ago, by a tape-worm.— This piece of information, taken in connection with the symptoms above described, soon convinced Drs Warren, Channing, Stevens and Bowditch, that her complaint was the same as her brother's and that unless the worm was extracted, she also must inevitably fall its victim. After deliberate consultation, these eminent physicians decided to make a direct incision into

Up, Brother, Up! DY C. D. STUART.

Up, brothers, up! the light begins Along the eastern sky.

Along the eastern sky.

To premise that the night is past,
And better days are nigh;
A clarion voice rings o'er the hills,
The valleys catch the sound—
And freedom is the stirring cry
That fills the world around t

It pierces through the fading gloom, Its strength the peasant feels— And old oppression from its throne With shame and terror reels; All taen life up their hearts and hands, More fearless and more free, And loud ring out the common shout,

No more we'll bend the knee! From smithy-forge, from fisher's cot, From ploughs that break the lex, From hon hones, from smoking mines, From ship's that cleave the rea-One voice unites and mightier Sweets on an ever on; The tyrant's lay, the vascal's work

Are gone, forever gone!

Up, brothers, up! and share the light, Rejoice the day has come, When freedom decks the lowest shrine, And guar is the poorest hone:
Rejoice, and thelps with strongthening ties.
